(54) GOLF PUTTER HEAD ABLE TO BE CUSTOMIZED

(57)Abstract:

PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED: To provide a golf putter head able to be customized which makes a separating line between a face and a back hidden and invisible.

SOLUTION: This golf putter head able to be customized (10) includes the face member (12) and back body (16) selected from the face members and back bodies of plural different forms. There is a depression (34) at the back (32) of the face member. The back body has a joint portion (50) to be arranged in this depression. As a result, when the putter head is assembled, the parting line between the face member and the back body is hidden on the lower side of a top ledge (30) of the face member. More preferably a hosel (14) selected from the hosels of plural different forms is mounted on the face member and a film (18) consisting of an elastomer is arranged into the depression of the face member so as to be inserted between the face member and the back body.
